

Transmission System for Network with Communication Quality Indicating Capability and The Method of The Same

ABSTRACT

5

A transmission system for network with communication quality indicating capability and the method of the same, which is capable of providing real-time communication quality and display thereof at a station of the system.

10